Cross Ready To Reply In Senate Quiz

Beatings, Misusing Of Union's Funds Listed In Charges

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—Bakers Union boss James G. Cross gets a chance today to reply to charges that he beat women, misused union funds and okayed substandard wage contracts with bakers' interests that allegedly loaned him $100,000.

Cross, international president of the union, pledged yesterday to answer every "pertinent" question without invoking the Fifth Amendment at a Senate Rackets Committee hearing. He gave the promise in exchange for the right to have accusing witnesses cross-examined.

Claim Couple Beaten Robert F. Kennedy, the committee counsel, said Cross will face questions about major accusations such as these:

1. That Cross and hired "goons" invaded the hotel room of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Ehrlich at the union's international convention in San Francisco last Oct. 21 and beat them both. Ehrlich, president of New York Bakers Local 50, had lined up with forces trying to oust Cross from leadership of the 160,000-member bakers and confectioners organization.

2. That Cross dipped into the union's treasury for thousands of dollars to finance a relationship with a convicted Los Angeles prostitute, Mrs. Kay Lower, and beat her when she gave another man a diamond ring bought with union funds.

3. That Cross "misused" large sums of union funds for personal purposes, as alleged by Curtis R. Sims, who was suspended as union secretary-treasurer after he publicly voiced the accusations that brought on the committee's inquiry. The suspension resolution accused Sims of making "unfounded" charges and bringing the union into disrepute.

Committee Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) said he was curious about what he said were some "highly questionable" expense account claims against the union. He said Cross and other officials collected on these alleged claims.

Joseph G. Kane, a Bakers Union local head from Elmont, N.Y., told the committee yesterday of the alleged beating of the Ehrlichs. Kane, president of Local 525, also swore he was beaten—but not severely—by Cross during the San Francisco convention while "goons" held his arms.

A high point for questioning staked out by Kennedy was whether Cross borrowed "more than $100,000" from the brothers Herbert and Martin Philipson Sr., who have financial interests in Zion Industries, Inc., of Zion, Ill. Peter Carbonara, secretary-treasurer of Chicago Local 1, testified.

Yank Sentenced By Nippon Court In Priest Death

OTSU, Japan (AP)—The Japanese District Court today sentenced an American soldier to 15 years' imprisonment for robbing and murdering a Buddhist priest.

The soldier, identified as Pvt. Randall B. Boyles, 24, Kenton, Del., was convicted of assaulting the priest last December, robbing him and tossing his unconscious body into Lake Biwa, where he drowned.

The prosecution demanded a light sentence. Judge Toshio Yanagida said he imposed a lighter sentence because Boyles had displayed a "penitent attitude" and presented $300 in sympathy money to the priest's widow. The army paid her $3,373.

Gummen Enter Opera Star's Home, Get $250,000 In Loot

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Three gunmen last night invaded the home of opera star Lina Loric and robbed him of furs, cash and jewelry he said were worth almost $250,000.

The men fled in an old sedan after binding Loric, his wife Kleinsch and two employees. The Danish-born singer said he was watching television in his hill-top home on Mulholland Drive when the three tall men, wearing masks and armed with .45-caliber pistols, forced their way in.

Israel Fears Russian Subs Given Nasser

JERUSALEM (AP)—News that three Soviet-built submarines have joined the Egyptian fleet caused new alarm today among Israeli officials. They are believed to be Egypt's first undersea craft, and Israel has none.

Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion met with his Cabinet in a special session which lasted until early this morning. A communiqué said only that security matters were discussed, but it was obvious that the Egyptian-Soviet submarine deal was high on the agenda.

Israeli officials feared the undersea craft would be used against Israeli shipping, particularly in the disputed Gulf of Aqaba leading to the southern Israeli port of Eilat. Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Jordan claim the gulf is Arab territorial water.

Since the Israeli invasion last fall Egypt has had no effective way to interfere with shipping to and from Eilat. Israeli troops occupied and destroyed Egypt's Sinai Desert gun positions commanding the entrance to the gulf. The Egyptian position over to the U.N. Emergency Force, Egypt has been wary of sending her warships against Israeli shipping since the one surface action of the invasion ended with the damaging and capture of an Egyptian frigate.

Egyptian purchase of the three Russian subs was confirmed last night by Egypt's semi-official Middle East News Agency.

Doctor Reports Slayer, 17, Saucy

HOUSTON, Texas (AP)—Dr. C. A. Dwyer, county psychiatrist, said today a 17-year-old youth who choked and stabbed his sweet heart to death "knew what he was doing."

"He's sane," Dwyer said after talking at city jail with Robert Edward Freeman, foster son of a University of Houston professor. Freeman is charged with the murder of brown-eyed Sandra Jean Maywald, 17. The girl had told him she did not want to see him any more, the boy told reporters.

Hoffa's Trial Gets Started In U. S. Court

WASHINGTON (AP)—James R. Hoffa's lawyer today claimed evidence against him was obtained by wiretapping, but the government promptly denied it.

Hoffa, Midwest Teamsters Union boss, arrived half an hour early this morning for the start of his U. S. District Court trial. The government charges he bribed and conspired to plant a paid informer on the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee staff.

Hoffa's attorneys filed a motion to quash any government evidence obtained through wiretapping.

They also subpoenaed Atty. Gen. Herbert Brownell to testify on whether there have been any wiretapping authorizations to the FBI.

But the government promptly filed an answering motion to quash the Brownell subpoena. This contained a denial by Brownell that there has been any FBI wiretapping.

Two Maryland Men Killed In Car Crash

EMMITSBURG, Md. (AP)—Two Emmitsburg men were killed last night when their speeding car veered off a highway a mile east of here and crashed into a utility pole.

The two were identified by State Police as David Lee Neighbors, 31, the driver, and Charles Roland Hubbard, 37.

Neighbors was driving a 1956 Ford when it crashed into a utility pole. Hubbard was in the passenger seat. The car was traveling at 60 miles per hour when it crashed. The driver was killed instantly. The passenger was killed about 10 minutes later.

Senate Group Pushes Civil Rights Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate approaches today its first real test of civil rights sentiment in seven years with a boiling controversy in prospect over whether to act on a House-passed bill.

Led by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.), a coalition of Republicans and self-styled "liberals" Democrats was confident that before the week is out they will have placed the House civil rights bill on the Senate calendar.

The effect of any such successful effort to bypass the Judiciary Committee—where similar legislation has been stalled for six months—would be to place the House bill in a position where any senator could move to call it up for a vote.

At that point, Southern forces would be certain to launch a filibuster—the same kind of endless talk that in the past has spelled death for civil rights bills.

Knowland, Senate Republican leader, said he is "confident we will get the bill on the calendar."

Sen. Russell (D-Ga), leading the Southern Democrats, said he has found "some indication there may be a legislative lynching on this bill."

This was an allusion to the announced intention of Knowland and Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) to invoke a little-used rule by which they contend a House bill can be placed on the calendar without reference to a committee.

Record Heat Grips East, Deaths Rise

Cold Front Moves From Canada, Break Sighted Tomorrow

By The Associated Press

The year's first big heat wave concentrated today in the Atlantic Coast area, shrinking before an eastward moving cool air front that finally brought respite to the Midwest.

Since Saturday the weather—including floods and storms as well as broiling temperatures—took at least 225 lives.

The heat wave was blamed for the largest toll—197. Deaths occurred from heat prostration but the greatest number were recorded in drownings as people sought to find some relief from the stifling heat.

Floods Take 28 Lives

Floods took at least 28 lives. A mass of cool air from Canada broke the torrid heat wave in the Midwest yesterday.

Early today, the cold air front extended along a line from Lake Erie to southwest Ohio, down to southeast Arkansas.

"Most of the hot weather now is in the Atlantic Coast states," the Weather Bureau forecaster in Chicago said. "Temperatures will be in the 90s today, but by tomorrow night that cold front should just about end the heat wave in the East."

Another day of 90-degree readings would be the eighth straight day of midsummerlike weather for numerous cities.

Thunderstorms continued to boom along the demarcation line between cool and warm air.

In the two principal flood areas, residents of Marshall, Minn., waited for a further rise in the rambling Redwood River, but the flood seemed to wane in eastern South Dakota.

The Big Sioux River, now as wide as a mile in some places instead of its normal 60 feet, caused millions of dollars damage along a 100-mile line in South Dakota. There were three dead and two missing.

Towns Await Deluge

In Minnesota, the Redwood River at flooded Marshall still was three feet above flood stage. Downriver towns braced themselves for an expected deluge.

A crest of 11 to 14 feet was predicted by forecasters, who said that more water was due from small upriver tributaries.

Property damage at Marshall was estimated at a million dollars. Farm experts said crop damage would be three times as great.

Nippon Cites Pact Periled

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese officials warned today an American court decision blocking a Japanese trial for William S. Girard would menace the U.S.-Japan Mutual Security Treaty unless the U.S. Supreme Court upsets the ruling.

Justice Minister Umekiichi Nakamura said the District Court ruling was "not binding" and Japan would go ahead with Girard's trial as planned.

Yuzo Kawachi, the judge assigned to preside over the trial, said, "The trial will open about the middle of August."

Plea To High Court Set In Girard Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government moved today in an effort to upset a court ruling barring U. S. authorities from turning over G. William S. Girard to Japan for trial on manslaughter charges.

All indications pointed to a direct appeal to the Supreme Court, with hopes for a final decision before the court ends its present term next Monday.

The final decision on whether to go directly to the Supreme Court rather than going through the U.S. Court of Appeals here rested with Solicitor General J. Lee Rankin. His decision is expected today.

Appeal machinery was set in motion within an hour after U.S. Dist. Judge Joseph C. McGarragh handed down his decision in favor of Girard yesterday afternoon.

This came in the form of a formal notice of appeal filed in District Court.

Girard's attorneys and supporters were jubilant at McGarragh's decision. The judge ruled that to surrender the 27-year-old soldier to the Japanese would violate his constitutional rights.

The State and Defense departments had decided some time ago that Girard, a specialist third class from Ottawa, Ill., should be tried by Japanese courts on charges that he fatally shot a Japanese woman who was scavenging for scrap metal on a firing range in Japan.

Girard, who was guarding equipment on the range, has said the shooting was accidental. The woman, Mrs. Naka Sakai, was killed by an empty cartridge casing fired from a grenade launcher. Girard now is in Army custody at Camp Whittington, about 60 miles from Tokyo.

Claims Red Arms Slash Needs Study

Refutes Report Of Stassen Reprimand For Parley Actions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower said today Russia's latest disarmament proposals are a hopeful sign deserving the most earnest and sympathetic study.

Eisenhower told a news conference he is not suggesting that the United States should agree to any unlimited and unconditional suspension of atomic weapons tests.

Both the United States and Russia would have to know exactly what was going on under any suspension program, Eisenhower said.

His remarks were a comment on the Soviet Union's recent proposal for an internationally supervised ban on atomic weapons tests.

"Usefulness Not Ruined"

On the same subject, Eisenhower said forcefully that Harold E. Stassen, his disarmament adviser, was not reprimanded when here last week.

There was some feeling, Eisenhower said, that Stassen had been rushing ahead too fast. But he added he certainly does not feel Stassen's usefulness has been ruined.

Disarmament is a very complex, delicate matter, Eisenhower said, and it is necessary to call negotiators home sometimes for consultation.

He added that was the case when Stassen was asked to return from London.

In response to a question, Eisenhower said he would be willing to have the United States enter into a temporary agreement for suspension of atomic tests while efforts are continued to achieve a "package" disarmament pact covering much more ground.

In fact, he said, he would be delighted if such a limited agreement could be reached pending achievement of a package pact.

But Eisenhower said he did not mean to imply this country ever would agree to an unlimited and unconditional short-term suspension of nuclear tests.

The session with newsmen was one of the most lightly attended of any Eisenhower has held since taking office.

Attendance Is Light

There probably were two reasons:

1. The intense heat. It was 87 degrees outside, and it seemed at boiling temperature in the conference room, which is not air conditioned.

2. Reporters probably did not get word in time that the meeting was being held half an hour earlier than usual.

The President also discussed: COURT—The Supreme Court's recent series of decisions dealing with individual rights are being studied carefully by the Justice Department.

Streamliner's Passengers Get 'All Shook Up'

GRANTS, N. M. (AP)—About 38 passengers were bruised and shaken up last night when a freak accident slammed on the emergency brakes of the Santa Fe's westbound El Capitan streamliner.

No one was hurt seriously. A railroad spokesman said about 14 miles east of Grants a loose tie plate flew up and severed the air brake hose on one of the cars. This automatically applied the emergency brakes.

The four rear cars came uncoupled and then slammed back into the forward part of the train as it stopped.

Fairbanks Host To Royalty At Elaborate London Party

LONDON (AP)—More than one-garret all to a private party is no mean feat for anyone, let alone an American show person.

The dapper Duke of Bedford tried it last week at a coming-out party for his stepdaughter Nora Lytle and got a turnaround.

Fairbanks and his wife since the war have made their home in England, where he is associated with a number of film and television enterprises.

Fairbanks, who had a distinguished war record with the U.S. Navy, made the Dieppe raid with Adm. Lord Mountbatten and through him met Mountbatten's nephew Prince Philip.

U.S. 'Hush-Hush' Agency Will Get New Building

Department, he said, to determine whether there should be any further tests of the laws involved.

Eisenhower had been asked whether he thought the court had gone too far in protecting individual rights, at the expense of the law enforcement procedures and the investigative functions of Congress.

The President said he would not care to deal with those specific points. He said that, like all laymen, he has some convictions but that he would not go into them.

GIRARD—Without specific mention of a District Court ruling yesterday barring the government from turning GI William S. Girard over to the Japanese for trial, Eisenhower said he would not care to discuss the case at this time lest it cause some possible damage to Girard.

RIGHTS—Eisenhower said he has been sadly disappointed because some people feel the administration's civil rights program would disturb their own rights. He added he sees no cause for such concern.

The administration bill passed yesterday by the House was designed with the thought of conciliation and moderation, not persecution of anyone, Eisenhower said.

His remarks were prompted by a reporter's question as to whether Eisenhower intended to advise Senate Republicans to fight, if necessary, to break an expected Senate filibuster against the civil rights measure.

Has Not Discussed It

He replied he had not discussed that matter with the GOP Senate leaders. Then he said that, while

FT. MEADE, Md. (AP)—The hush-hush National Security Agency's new $5 million dollar home here—97 per cent completed—will present the last word in structural and mechanical efficiency as well as secretiveness when it opens next fall.

The shunning giant of a building, soon to be awakened by more than 12,000 employees of the nation's top intelligence agency, received a limited "public" inspection yesterday.

Occupancy is expected to begin in November when the estimated 12,000 personnel start the move from NSA's Arlington Hall headquarters in Virginia.

Yesterday's tour was staged by the Baltimore Post, Society of American Military Engineers (SAME) and was conducted by the Baltimore District, U.S. Corps of Army Engineers which supervised construction of the huge building.

About 150 persons, including members of the society, contractors, a handful of reporters and other guests made the tour.

So hush-hush is the NSA, that its name wasn't even mentioned by the guides or in the pre-tour statistical information put out by the Corps of Engineers, which refers to the structure only as the "Department of Defense building at Ft. Meade."

However, it is no secret that the building is for the NSA. Letters two feet tall above the main entrance label it unmistakably as the "National Security Agency."

With 1,400,000 square feet of floor space, the three-story steel, concrete and glass building is only one fourth the size of the Pentagon. But it is described as the largest building of its kind in the country. Shaped like a large square U, with two interior light courts, the building is 920 feet long and 560 feet wide and boasts the "longest unobstructed (straight) corridor in the country. It runs the entire 920-foot length of the building. The U. S. Capitol in Washington previously claimed this honor but its central corridor is but 750 feet long.

It is surrounded by a double fence, entered only through four well-guarded gate houses.

Among the mechanical contraptions designed to keep the NSA's secrets secret is a system of "security conveyor belts" which run at 100 feet per minute through the basement of the building. They will carry trays of documents and papers to eight substations scattered throughout the structure.

A German-made pneumatic tube system can carry papers at 25 feet per second and can handle up to 800 tubes in an hour. Each tube has its own autopilot. You dial its destination and the tube whisks itself to the proper station.

All electrical cables come into the building underground and run through the hollow flooring of the building. They include a red line which is the security telephone circuit, a non-secure black telephone line, a broad band for public address facilities, an antenna loop, an alternating current wire and several spares.

Hundreds Flee Capital, Fearing Haiti Violence

By LARRY ALLEN

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti—Hundreds of workers and peasants have fled this seething capital city in fear that fresh violence may erupt.

Loaded with personal belongings, they began streaming out yesterday as the ruling military junta started jailing political partisans on a wide scale.

Those fleeing included supporters of both presidential candidates Louis Dejoie and his arch rival, ousted Provisional President Daniel Fignole.

Dejoie himself was in hiding. Six of his top advisers and scores of his followers were among those arrested.

The military rulers apparently concentrated on Dejoie's backers to keep them from again organizing general strikes. Most business firms in the capital followed orders from Dejoie in the recurrent strikes staged during the political turmoil that has unseated six governments since December.

The ruling junta has outlawed strikes. Troops and police patrolled the streets forcing stores and shops to remain open.

Port au Prince newspapers published detailed accounts of Fignole's activities in New York, where he fled after he was overthrown.

They said the junta had sent him $10,000 and that he also will receive $500 a month salary. His seven children left behind when Fignole and his wife were hurried out of the country were reported in good health and safe with friends in Port au Prince.

The number of persons arrested following Saturday's violent riots appeared to be near 2,000, but scores were released after being questioned.

Crash Injuries Result In Death

MARTINSBURG, W. Va. (AP)—Robert Manninghart Bradfield, 67, of Winchester, Va., died in City Hospital yesterday from injuries suffered in an auto collision last Saturday.

Bradfield's car collided with one driven by George William Green of Martinsburg. Green and two passengers were not injured seriously. No charges were preferred. Police blamed the collision on a slippery highway.

Victim Of Blast Dies In Hospital

BALTIMORE (AP)—John Summers, 50, injured May 31 when blown through the front window of his home, died today at City Hospital.

Police said the blast occurred when Summers lit a cigarette after a gas leak apparently had filled the room with fumes.

Summers was blown out onto the lawn with his clothing in flames.

Biggest Bust Enters Ascot Royal Sector

ASCOT, England (AP)—The babe with the biggest bust in British show business gate-crashed the hallowed royal enclosure, at the Ascot races yesterday. It was sensational, and the place may never be the same again.

The girl with the bust is Sabrina, nee Norma Sykes, known the length and breadth of the British Isles as "Television's Dumb Blonde." She has become famous by the simple process of standing in front of the cameras and breathing. The vital statistic is 41 inches.

Sabrina's appearance before the royal family and among the peers of the realm created a bigger shock than the victory of an 8-year-old gelding named Bonhomie in the day's feature race, and Bonhomie paid 75-1 on the tote. They won't let you in the royal enclosure at all if you are divorced.

Dressed in a low-necked flowered organdy, Sabrina walked into the enclosure without a ticket while the gate man was groping around the royal turf for his eyeballs.

Red Boss Says U. S. Fears To Remove GIs In Europe

TOKYO (AP)—Nikita Khrushchev says the United States bars the withdrawal of foreign troops from Western Europe because it fears the people of that area "might want something other than capitalism."

Asahi Shimbun, Japan's largest newspaper, today published a 3½-hour interview with the Soviet Communist party boss in which he declared U. S. reliance on military force to preserve peace in the "philosophy of a man who desires war."

"We would like to withdraw our troops from Germany, Poland, Hungary and other nations," Khrushchev said, "but America, Britain and France do not want to withdraw their troops."

Khrushchev called for a "united movement" on disarmament, "I feel it would be a good idea for Russia to express its willingness to ban nuclear tests and for Japan, India, Red China and other Socialist and anticolonial countries to follow up with their declarations," he said.

The Russian Communist chief again asserted it is technically impossible to conceal nuclear test explosions, but said "Russia is ready to allow international inspection in Russia in return for inspections in the U. S., Britain, Canada and other points."

Wheat Quota Ballot Stated

The wheat marketing quota referendum Thursday between 8 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the Allegany County Agricultural Conservation and Stabilization Committee office will have only 10 farmers of the county eligible, according to James H. Weimer, committee chairman.

Last year only three out of 11 eligible bothered to cast ballots in the national referendum.

Growers eligible to vote in the referendum are all those entitled to share in the 1956 wheat crop from a farm on which the wheat acreage to be harvested, plus any acreage to be placed in the wheat acreage reserve, will be more than 15 acres. These farmers are being notified of their wheat allotments. Quotas do not affect those farmers who harvest 15 acres of wheat or less for grain on a farm.

If two-thirds of the growers voting in the wheat referendum approve the quotas, they will remain in effect for 1958 and price supports will be available to farmers who have complied with their farm wheat allotments at a minimum national average of $1.73 a bushel.

If more than one-third of the growers voting disapprove the quotas, they will not be in effect and price support will be available to farmers who have complied with their farm wheat allotments at 50 per cent of parity.

Big Building Slated For LaVale Area

County Assessing Department Issues Permit For Business

The Allegany County assessing Department issued a building permit yesterday for a 200-foot by 200-foot structure in LaVale to be used as a restaurant, service station and other small stores.

Estimated to cost $230,000, it will be located in the area bounded by Vocke, Winchester and Braddock roads.

The permit was issued to Charles M. Krebs and Irving Lowe, both of New York City. At yesterday's meeting of the Board of County Commissioners, Dr. W. Ross Cameron, acting county health officer, notified the board that the request of the two men to operate a restaurant and gasoline service station was in order.

Krebs and Lowe had prior permission of the county for the business place pending Health Department action on sewage and restaurant regulation observance.

The 200-foot by 200-foot block, brick and frame project will include restaurant, gasoline station, drug store and other small stores, according to the permit. It will be built on a 3.65 acre tract which had been owned by Market Buildings Incorporated.

Also issued yesterday and the day before were five permits for dwellings which the builders say will cost a total of about $45,000.

Joseph A. Leach, Armstrong Street, Frostburg, got a permit to build a 43 by 30 foot frame dwelling in Election District 11 at Frostburg costing an estimated $12,000.

Kenneth William Koser, RD 3, Bedford Road, obtained a permit for a $10,000 brick veneer dwelling in Election District 23 east of the city.

John E. Garlitz, 41 Bowery street, Frostburg, obtained a permit to build an $8,000 50 by 26 foot brick dwelling in Election District 11 at Frostburg. Robert D. Deffenbaugh acquired a permit for construction of a $7,600 frame dwelling in Election District 13 at Mt. Savage.

Jack T. Stocomb, RD 3, Bedford Road, obtained a permit to build a brick dwelling in Election District 5 east of the city but the permit carried no estimate of the construction cost.

OUR COUNTRY
The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever.—Morris.

Logical Move

SOME OBSERVERS in Washington believe Vice President Nixon is moving unmistakably toward the Eisenhower camp as the long build-up toward the 1960 GOP presidential nomination begins to accelerate slightly. If this is true, practiced political analysts would accept it as a logical move on Nixon's part. Whatever may be the proper measure of his stature and talents, it is plain that the vice president's prominence as a presidential candidate grows principally from his association with President Eisenhower. He does not know whether, when the time comes, the President will give him either an open or a tacit blessing. But if such a blessing should be given, Nixon will be far more favorably placed to get it if he has identified himself clearly with Mr. Eisenhower's policies and views.

SOME THINK the President will never openly endorse any man nor even quietly pass the word for him. But Nixon still could reap rich benefit among convention delegates if he stood out almost alone among those aligned with the Eisenhower wing. Though his potential rival, Sen. William F. Knowland, has not yet declared candidacy, it is increasingly assumed he will eventually do so. Meantime, he is staking out the Republicans' conservative wing as his own territory. There was a time when Nixon seemed the conservatives' choice, but Knowland's aggressive maneuvers have gained him superior allegiance in this field.

BUT, HAVING ONCE been acceptable to the conservatives, Nixon may with some reason imagine that in a final convention test he could sway enough of them to gain the decisive advantage. Knowland, if he gets into the fray, has just the opposite task, winning enough of the Eisenhower-minded Republicans to add to his conservative base. Since conservatives have not put over a man of their choice since 1936, Knowland would seem to have the more formidable chore. Today Nixon is still measured widely as the front runner, and none of his newest maneuvers appears to be damaging his status.

VICE PRESIDENT Nixon may be correct when he calls the $71.8 billion budget "sound." But there are opponents who don't like the sound.

A Proper Penalty

FOR REASONS KNOWN perhaps best to the psychologists, the airlines have long been plagued with what they call the "no-show" problem. The difficulty is created by people who either buy tickets or make reservations for a flight and then never appear. Sometimes the airline can sell the unused space at the last minute, but many flights depart with the line unfairly deprived of a chance to get its maximum revenue. Evidently many people reserve a lot of flights at different hours and sometimes on different carriers, determined to use the one reservation most suitable to their plans as they develop. Actually, this constitutes a kind of hoarding of space which is unfair both to the airlines and to other passengers who would like space but can't get it. Not everybody is willing to show up at an airport on the chance that he can get a seat left vacant by a "no-show." The Civil Aeronautics Board now allows airlines to cancel reservations when they are not picked up in a specified time before departure. But this does not curb the ticketed passengers who fail to appear. So they are henceforth (as of Sept. 15) authorizing the lines to penalize any passenger $3 for failing to use his ticket and notifying the carrier. If that doesn't work, maybe the fine should be steeper.

PREDICTION that man may eventually attain a life span of 125 to 150 years indicates there will have to be fewer retirement years or more sources of pension payments.

Make Humphrey Target Now, Demos Hold

WASHINGTON—Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey has enjoyed an enviable state of untouchability comparable to that enjoyed until only recently by President Eisenhower. With perfect ease, poise and confidence, he has sat down before Congressional committees to be treated as an oracle, even by Democrats.

Now the attitude of Democrats has changed, as the Cleveland industrialist and financier learns from plans of the Senate Finance Committee's investigation of the Eisenhower Administration's fiscal and monetary policy before which the Treasury head is the first witness this week.

As forecast several days ago, the Secretary, organizing genius of a mighty Midwest industrial and financial empire, is to be made a symbol by the Democrats of the influence of big business and finance on the Eisenhower Administration and its policies from which big business and finance have benefited so handsomely.

Democrats have found that this issue, which they emphasized at the beginning of the Eisenhower era four years ago, is one upon which the party can unite. They believe it can be exploited as effectively as it was by Franklin D. Roosevelt, Harry S. Truman and Andrew Jackson.

WHY THEN, have Democrats waited until now when Secretary Humphrey is about to retire and step out of their line of direct fire?

This can be answered best perhaps by pointing to the decline of President Eisenhower's popularity in current Gallup Polls and a further drop of the Republican party in popular favor, and by successive new highs recorded month after month in the Bureau of Labor Statistics cost-of-living index.

All this is against a background of all-time record highs in profits of big corporations, a rising curve of bankruptcies in small business, and no prospect of tax relief for rank and file citizens.

At the same time, they are learning about tax favors to big business, dramatized in depletion allowances for oil companies and fast tax write-offs for thousands of industries which represent a savings not available to the rest of us.

In short, the frustrations of the times always seek a target, and Democrats intend to make Secretary Humphrey that target. How they define the "Humphrey-Big Business" issue was outlined in advance in a Senate speech by Sen. Albert Gore, a member of the Finance Committee who will take the lead in developing the issue as forecast here a few days ago. Explaining that he did not "question the integrity or personal honesty" of the retiring Secretary, he said:

"I DO FEEL very deeply that the economic, credit, tax and fiscal policies of the Eisenhower Administration, of which Secretary Humphrey has been a principal architect, have operated to the detriment of the average citizen and have, on the other hand, greatly benefitted large vested interests and individuals with large holdings."

In pursuing this line, Sen. Gore will ask for a list of the Secretary's stock holdings and their present value in order to make a comparison with their value at the time he submitted a list of them to the committee four years ago in connection with his confirmation, a list which the Tennessee Senator said had disappeared from the files of the committee.

UNLIKE Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson, who was compelled to sell his stocks when he joined the Eisenhower Cabinet, the Treasury Secretary retained ownership in a number of companies with which he is associated, which he specified to the committee four years ago as the M. A. Hanna Company, Hanna

Coal and Iron Corporation, National Steel Corporation, and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company.

At the same time he explained that M. A. Hanna Company in turn owned "substantial interest" in National Steel, Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal, Industrial Rayon Corporation, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Iron Ore Company of Canada, Durez Plastics and Chemicals, Inc., Hanna Coal and Ore Corporation, as well as in a few other smaller companies.

He based his decision not to sell his stocks, he told the committee then, on an opinion by his lawyers that stock ownership is not in violation of a 1793 law, cited to him by the committee, which says that "no person appointed to the office of Secretary of Treasury, or Treasurer, shall directly or indirectly be concerned or interested in the carrying on of business as director and official," since he had given up all of his directorships and official positions.

His lawyers cited a Supreme Court decision and a decision by the Attorney General in the case of Andrew W. Mellon, of Pittsburgh, when he was appointed Secretary of Treasury by President Warren C. Harding.

During the next few days the American people will learn somewhat belatedly with what a mighty industrial empire George Humphrey has been connected and to which he will return.

Through membership of its officers and directors in other corporations and financial institutions, the M. A. Hanna Co. and Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Co. have interlocking directorates with 31 corporations, 11 banks and eight insurance companies that have total assets of over $71 billions.

The corporations deal in steel, electric supply manufacture, rayon, iron ore, coal, oil, natural gas, copper, railroads, aviation, telephone and telegraph and shipbuilding.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK — Now that the time is close at hand, it may as well be confessed that short of having a free automobile thrust at him, no announced traveler can depart without having to fend off a host of free merchandise. Recent arrivals from other and more rigorous nations must look upon this heap of as vivid, if nothing else.

A FEW WEEKS ago this reporter announced that he was going to drive back into Mexico, going as close to the Guatemalan border as possible.

In less than 48 hours after the item was printed here and there, the mails to New York were clogged with generous offers ranging from bottle coolers to Eskimo glasses hand-carved from walrus ivory.

The latter, the offer said, were like window blinds, with small carved slats, and although Eskimos had found them valuable for years as a ward against snow blindness, the purveyors were of the opinion that they would be fine in fierce, hot sunshine, too. I'll never know.

A map manufacturer wanted to provide me with indestructible linen maps. A gasoline maker wanted his kind of gas used in return for a testimonial (I did answer him, saying that in Mexico you took Mexican gas or nothing). A cooler maker wanted to provide a sort of covered bucket in which "soft drinks could be carried immersed in ice." Why only soft drinks? Couldn't chilled wines and beers also be immersed in ice?

A MAN WHO makes wooden slatted seats guaranteed to keep the back erect and, therefore, free from fatiguing sags during a day of driving, said his article would prevent road doze and I am sure of that. Sitting on the portable equivalent of a park bench all day is not exactly my idea of comfort.

There was a maker (foreign) of flashlights that did not need batteries but are kept lighted by steady squeezing of a sort of trigger arrangement. He got an answer, too. I asked him how I could change a flat tire with one hand while steadily squeezing the trigger with the other? He didn't answer. The assortment of gadgets and gimmicks, all offered without fee, was astonishing! One man had a rolled map thing in which you cut your regular maps into strips, rolled them into this machine and as you rode along you gave the wheel on a twist every few miles and a new section of map would reveal itself.

THE BEST offer was from an air-conditioner fellow, who said he would have one installed free but it would have to be returned when the trip was over, plus a 1,000-word article on what it was like. That didn't seem cricket, not that I get what Broadway calls a fortune of money for a 1,000-word article, but it didn't seem a way to acquire temporary air-conditioning in an automobile.

ALL THESE offers have been rejected, it seems only fair to say and my only comment is one of bewilderment. Are sales so bad or ad campaigns so lackadaisical that one newspaperman's motor trip justifies a torrent of free goods in the faint and gambled hope that he will contrive to mention them in print?

It seems a difficult and dubious way of getting mention in papers, and since this reporter as firmly as possible under today's pressures tries to avoid commercial mention, the whole scheme is brittle.

The truth is that a cooler of the kind mentioned above has been purchased, retail. Maps have been provided by a service designed for just that purpose and for which an annual fee is exacted.

The car was bought retail at the usual figures and, thus far, I am not beholden to anyone except novelist Lucy Crockett, of Seven Mile Ford, Va.

Lucy invited us to stop by and have a cool glass of iced tea if we passed her way. Since we did it before, and her house is a haven of hospitality, we may again. And if we don't, we are beholden anyway for a courteous invitation.

But you can keep the Eskimo glasses, boys.

Just A Wee Splash Of Red

WASHINGTON — As a veteran of Death Alley, I regret to report that Senator Richard L. Neuberger seems to be fighting a losing battle against billboards on the $40 billion superhighway system now coming into being.

He wrote the bill that would ban from the new roadways the lithographs of the twice-size blondes in bathing suits advertising beer, the posters showing V-8 sedans on painted countryside almost as pretty as that hidden by the billboard, and large yellow signs (they're always yellow) signs suggesting sure methods of getting rid of termites.

EVERY TIME the Senator's bill goes before another committee it gets doctored a little; should it become law eventually, it wouldn't do much more than slap the hands of the sign painters. This may be because other Senators like billboards instead of scenery; it may also be because the sign men are powerful persuaders.

All I know is that U.S. Highway 1 between here and Baltimore is still extant, like a ghost road, to show the lawgivers what Neuberger is talking about. Most traffic now travels via a new parkway on the 35 miles between Washington and the metropolis of Baltimore.

The old road, a mile or so to the west, was known for years as Death Alley because of the motorists who were killed or maimed almost nightly on its stretches of four-lane pavement. Driving between the two cities was a harrowing experience, even for those who made it in one piece.

ON THE SIDES were motels, beer joints, hot dog stands, filling stations, frozen custard shoppes, auto bone yards, railroad terminals, pottery salesrooms, hand-made quilt emporiums, used car lots and tombstone stores.

These latter frequently appeared in photos of the wrecks that specked on the road. Wherever there was a vacant lot, it bore interest cost would be eight million dollars. At the end of 50 years it would be 24 million.

ON THE OXBOW dam, Idaho Power was granted 60 per cent accelerated depreciation on a 36-million-dollar cost. Assuming the same conditions as for Brownlee estimates above, the government's interest cost would be 11 million dollars over 50 years.

Total interest cost for the two dams—35 million.

If, however, the interest rate on government borrowings should rise to an average of 3.5 per cent over the next 50 years, the cost to the government would be nearly 60 million dollars.

If other assumptions are used, the cost figure goes up or down. The extreme estimate of 329 million dollars is made by some of the public power interests. It is obtained by compounding the interest on the company's earnings from savings in tax payments during the first five years, for the 50-year life of the dams. It is not considered realistic.

Reporter's Notebook

NEW YORK — "It seems to me that a dangerous philosophy has grown up that the world owes us a living," said Dr. John R. Bertrand, who at 42 heads one of America's most unusual educational institutions.

"We try to teach our students that it is up to a man to create his own opportunity—and that hardship need not in itself be regarded as a cause for unhappiness."

Dr. Bertrand, who last year became president of the famed Berry Schools and College near Rome, Ga., is an unusual educator himself.

After graduating from high school, he ran his father's Texas wheat farm for five years to save enough to start college. In the second World War he served 19 months as a submarine combat officer in the Southwest Pacific.

Dr. Bertrand is a tall, spare, dark-eyed man.

"Many college students in the United States today are spoiled. Things have been too easy for them," he said.

THEY AREN'T at the Berry Schools, founded in 1902 to give an education to boys and girls of the Southern highlands who could get one no other way.

No student is allowed to have a car. There is no football. The students wear uniforms to avoid social distinctions.

Every student—boy or girl—studies four days a week, spends two days at work to earn his room and board. Some 60 per cent also work at the school during the summer to earn their tuition for the following year.

The schools operate their own dairy farm, grow their own produce, market timber from their forest. Students have constructed many of the 100 buildings on the campus, even turning out the bricks themselves.

"The students also provide most of their own entertainment," said Dr. Bertrand. "We stress these things—the dignity of work, Christian living, and the importance of beauty in daily life."

THIS CONCEPT might sound a little stuffy to many a student who regards college as a long lark at parental expense. But some 16,000 students over the last century have proved the worth of the Berry formula.

The schools have turned out hundreds of teachers, ministers, farm experts, industrial technicians.

Several graduates have become legislators and lawyers. One is a college president, another a magazine editor, a third vice president of a major Manhattan bank.

"Our graduates don't have any trouble getting located," said Dr. Bertrand, smiling. "Having had a good work background, they aren't afraid to tackle a new job just because it's hard."

Dr. Bertrand, who resigned as dean of the University of Nevada's college of agriculture, to take up his present post, says one of the pleasantest things about it is that he rarely has a disciplinary problem.

"A student who is getting his education by the sweat of his own brow knows the value of it. He isn't in a hurry to get into trouble."

Washington Scene

EDINBURGH — My father's folks lived in a transplanted Scottish community in northern Ontario named Luther township. Most of the inhabitants, or their forbears, came from Kirkcaldy, which is across the Firth of Forth from this capital of ancient Scotland.

The Luther townshippers were a dour lot. They didn't go in for hi-de-ho, but only Scots who hae hae! They spoke with a thicker burr than when they left Scotland. I had old aunts who to their dying day—and darn near mine!—insisted on calling me "Wee Geordie."

They were forever talking about Kirkcaldy, which they pronounced "Kirkcawdy." They said it was known as "The lang toon of Kirkcawdy," and when I always played along and asked why, they explained smugly that it was because it was a very lang toon.

They had an inexhaustible fund of stories about Kirkcaldy. One was that the devil was buried there; another that the city's principal industry, linoleum-making, had inspired a lyric poem. They said that the boiling of linseed oil for linoleum produced a fine, rich aroma, so that when the train from Edinburgh got to Durnessland (all one word), the passengers would begin chanting:

"And now you can tell, from the very rich smell,

"That the next toon's Kirkcawdy."

I GREW UP WITH the determination that some day I would visit Kirkcaldy. Then TWA put on the inaugural flight of its new jetstream. The giant plane shot us without a quiver nonstop to London, where the weather suddenly became so nice that Queen Elizabeth decided to have a birthday.

Her Majesty actually turned 31 last April 21, but the weather was a bit English then, so she decided to postpone it.

My bride, who bats a sticky wicket, said she wanted to visit Eton. She explained she had heard that the battles of Britain are won on its playing fields and she thought she might absorb some of the old school spirit and win a few skirmishes.

We took a sightseeing bus. Before we got to Windsor Castle, my bride fell asleep. I got so furious with her for snoozing through such historical countryside that I fell asleep too. When I woke up, the bus was passing Hampton Court, and the spicer was giving a much too modernized version of the beheading of Catherine Howard at the behest of Henry VIII.

I don't quite remember how it came about, but we agreed to detour to Scotland. After Edinburgh, we took a local train over the Firth bridge, to Kirkcaldy. I hate to be so corny, but I choked up.

KIRKCALDY (named for the church of the Caldees, a Presbyterian splinter sect) has grown to a city of 51,500, but it is still a lang toon. Strangely, it is much as it was pictured to me. In every old Scotsman I passed, I could see my "granddod" and his "dod" before him. I thought of all the Americans who must have experienced like emotions on returning to the home of their forefathers.

I found out the basis for the legend that the "de'il" is buried in Kirkcaldy. In the richly grass-covered old parish cemetery, on the Kirkwynd, there is one grave on which no grass has grown since the 12th century.

The canny Kirkcaldians, appreciative of their toon's one tourist attraction, make sure it doesn't.

Phone Workers Start $40,000 Bridge Project

The Telephone Company has started work on its $40,000 project of the new Baltimore Street Bridge, according to Robert Garner, manager.

Already under way is the construction of two new manholes, one to be placed on Greene Street and the other on Baltimore Street.

The manholes, Garner said, will be used to splice the temporary cables into existing telephone cables, and later in the project, to splice the new cables which will be placed in conduit in the new bridge to existing cables.

Temporary conduit will be placed from the new manholes to the temporary bridge. The conduit will contain four cables which will have to be spliced in each manhole twice.

The first splice will be made for the temporary cable and the second for the permanent cables which will be placed in duct lines of the new bridge.

The cables consist of 545, 600, 1200 and 1500 pairs of wires. In all, 15,000 wires will have to be spliced during the progress of the project.

All work on the project, Garner said, will be timed to coincide with the bridge construction and so it will not delay the use of either the temporary or the permanent bridge.

Some of the work will be coordinated with the C & A Gas Company, which will face a similar project in connection with the construction of the new bridge.

The Bald Boy-13

Success Rapidly Goes To Elmer's Head

By ELMER WHEELER

I'm convinced my hair is improving. Success is really going to my head.

I find myself less and less noticing my hair, and I have given up all home-made remedies and have stopped listening to the housewife remedies of my pillful friends.

I did try some experiments, though.

I started a mustache. No kidding. It is Bald Boy's final attempt at camouflage.

He figures he can center the eye of his friends on a mustache (hair), and keep their eyes off the balding noggin.

I tried all sorts of mustaches, from the John L. Sullivan handle bars to the modern ones such as you see on Clark Gable.

Things went O.K. until the wife asked me was I trying to become a great lover, or planning to go into the movies. Then I shaved it off.

It was too much bother anyway.

Then I tried other Bald Boy camouflages, such as combing my hair in a pompadour to hide the hair part that had spread pretty much during the past two years.

I tried pulling my hair over the bald spot to disguise it.

I tried a flat top, figuring that the bald spot and the thinning hair would then be less noticeable. All the brush haircut boys look bald at 10 yards anyway.

Then I went to the other extreme. I let the hair grow real long, so it bent over the bald spot, just like long grass in a yard bends over the bare spots. The only trouble was when the wind blew I looked like heck.

I finally settled down to a normal haircut, gambling on my doc's advice to relax my nerves, improve my emotional condition, and wash the hair and eat the proper nourishing foods.

On and off I broke my diet. There were times as Fat Boy, you know, when breaking your diet enervated you, pipped you up, and gave you a little respite. Then you went back on the diet. You didn't feel so bad.

I broke away from my daily rigor by going off the tonic bottle, so to speak, on and off just enough to keep me from getting bored with my life.

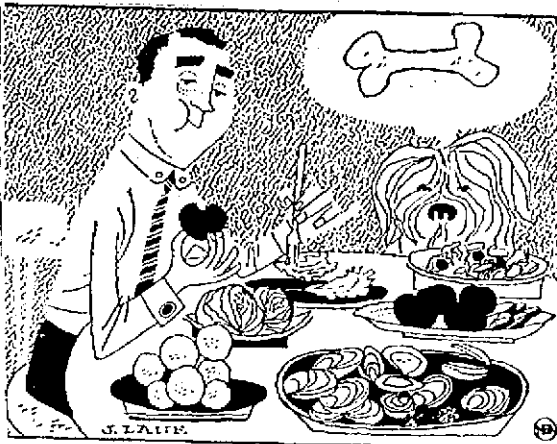

I had stopped over cooking the food, letting the vitamins and minerals go into the drain; now I began eating the peels of apples, pears, and even potatoes, having learned that the true value of these items are next to the skins.

If nothing else resulted in my attempts to grow hair, at least, I'd come out a better man, physically.

I wasn't trying to be an octogenarian, to live to be 80, 90 or 100; just to have some hair on my head.

Being old and bald is nothing to aim at.

But I do believe that an impoverished soil produces poor and stringy plants; and that an impoverished diet does the same with hair.

"I started to eat citrus fruits, liver, clams, cabbage..."

On the other hand, my doc assured me that I couldn't run down to the corner store and buy a million units of vitamins and expect my hair to come out, especially if I had inherited the bad gene which he wasn't sure of at the moment.

Extremes are never good in anything.

Recent research on rats indicates that certain vitamins will prevent gray hair, but the doc tells me to go slow on this. Enough proof isn't available at this time, but scientists in universities are working on the idea.

Gray hair, by the way, is not due to age. Many are prematurely gray-headed. They inherited, you see, a gene that said they'd be gray, and if your parents are very gray your chances of being gray are pretty good.

Now that is getting closer to the psychosomatic treatment stuff my doc assured me was coming up soon, in his campaign on Elmer to save his hair.

For the present he was still trying to revive my hair with the hope mine was one of the curable losses, and not due to an inherited bad gene.

I do believe proper food intake does help hair.

So I started to eat citrus fruits, liver, clams, cabbage, tomatoes, and turnip greens.

I'd help my doc all I could!

Planes Avoid Derby

NORFOLK, Va. (AP) — The Air Force this year ordered its planes to stay out of a 100-mile area around Louisville, Ky., at Derby time. This followed the so-called Army "mistake" in inviting selected congressmen to a weapons demonstration at nearby Fort Knox — an invitation which was cancelled after some rhubarb about the timing.

Man Attempts To Have Circuit Court 'Obliterate' Junk Case Judgement

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — An Annapolis man is attempting to have a circuit court "obliterate" a judgment against him in a case which he appealed earlier to the Court of Appeals and Supreme Court.

Henry J. Laque Jr., 33-year-old, Linthicum junk dealer, is a candidate for Republican nomination in the U. S. Senate in next year's primary election.

He was fined $500 and given a six-month suspended jail sentence which the judges said.

Origin of the phrase, "admitted to the bar," stems from the fact that Laque became a full-fledged barrister when he finally was allowed to leave his seat in the circuit court and present a case at the U. S. Supreme Court.

Laque said yesterday he has petitioned Judge James E. Boylan for a writ of habeas corpus, not a person.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Thursday, June 20, 1957:

MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Fine day for planning, so point your efforts accordingly and make the most of the day. Once the overall picture is unveiled, attention to supporting details will reap results. Tolerance, patience help.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—Guard against fraud and deception, not only in financial matters but in other ways. Your self-confidence may be bolstered by the valuable opinions of experienced heads.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Vibrations not outstanding. Be energetic but not impulsive. Take time to think things out before committing yourself. Continuity of thought is a prerequisite for a successful follow-through.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Excellent indications, as in the case of Aries. Make a middle-of-the-week review to eliminate errors. Try to finish incomplete tasks.

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Advice to Taurus applies here now. Try to differentiate between true quality and "window-dressing" in the products that interest you. Tension prevails; do not become a party to it. Resist.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Vigorous methods can enhance your effectiveness. Employ your innate talents to advance more quickly toward your goals. Don't exhaust to serve energy, however; use it judiciously.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—A sensitive, calm approach will be important now. Excitability leads to mistakes. Harmonious discussions can elicit much information.

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—Stimulating vibrations! Positive and roundly energetic action will produce substantial gain. Quiz yourself to ascertain weak points, then take steps to increase all-round effectiveness.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Use your fertile imagination to expand your activities. Don't underestimate the strength of your competition, however. Accept day's offerings with eagerness and turn them to your advantage.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—Aspects akin to Scorpio. Be solicitous of family's needs, others' problems. Your fine mind and robust nature can help put you in the lead. Keep sensibly within your budget.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 19 (Aquarius)—Benefic influences now. Be alert to opportunities, quick to take advantage of the best. Your progress will be dependent on effort, rigidly directed, systematically expended energy.

FEBRUARY 20 to MARCH 20 (Pisces)—While looking for the "silver lining," don't relax to the point of non-productivity. You must work consistently for advancement. Give due consideration to the rights of others.

YOU BORN TODAY are among the highly artistic; can be very intelligent, varied in talents, and efficient. You are, nevertheless, restless (at times to a point where you could defeat the high aims you wish to achieve). Cultivate patience and a desire for new things to do, new places to see. Healthy restlessness can be used to advantage, can prevent your staying "put," give impetus to new efforts. But it must be sensibly controlled and directed.

It Was Her Idea:

Mary Margaret McBride Should Have Own Show

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (AP)—It's time Mary Margaret McBride had her own regular interview program on network TV. She demonstrated this when Mike Wallace interviewed her Sunday night (ABC-TV).

After 20 years on radio she has been reluctant to switch to TV under its ground rules. Before Wallace, TV interviewing was highly gimmicked.

For years Miss McBride has been saying she would like to do a straight interview program in which she and a subject simply talked face to face. "Not," cried the sharp young men of TV, in effect, "That's merely radio with many eyes."

A camera turned on it. That's not television. Then came Wallace with the same simple technique she has been advocating.

Miss McBride is a modest woman. Wallace tried on Sunday to fathom her modesty. He succeeded in revealing her absolute candor. She demonstrated that she speaks lucidly and interestingly to a mature audience. She has a depth of emotional feeling rarely communicated on TV. So she is able to say things many people would not accept from one of lesser emotional tone.

A scallop has no head, but has effect. That's merely radio with many eyes.

Council Airs Problems Of District Youth

The Community Coordinating Council met last night to discuss the inclusion of automotive mechanics in the curriculum of public schools and the operation of "drag strips" supervised by State Police to get "hot rod" drivers off the highways. The meeting was at the Allegany County Board of Education office.

Dr. David E. Edwards of the staff of Spring Grove State Hospital addressed the group, and the pros and cons of the two suggestions were discussed.

The council represents major Allegany County agencies dealing with child welfare. Dr. Edwards, who conducts clinics here for the Allegany County Health Department, also discussed the work and facilities of the department's mental hygiene clinics.

The meeting was one of a series held to brief cooperating agencies on the services which are available for the rehabilitation of youths of the county.

While the slam is a lay-down it is not easy to bid. South has a normal no-trump and North only has 10 points in high cards.

When the hand was played in a Toronto duplicate some pairs landed in three no-trump and were set by a heart opening. Others got to four spades and made five.

A couple of pairs using the Jacoby transfer bid got to the six club contract.

North's two heart response was the transfer bid and South's two spades, the forced answer. North's three club bid showed the spade club two-suiter and was an absolute force to game. If a player who has used the transfer bid shows another suit he is forcing to game.

South's three diamond bid was an all purpose bid and naturally showed diamonds tops. North's jump to four spades indicated that he had no interest in no-trump and some slight interest in a slam. He could have bid three spades and South would have had to continue.

South's five club bid showed good clubs and also a willingness to play a slam. South could not have worried about the four spade contract.

Finally, North's six club bid was based on his singleton heart. With two hearts he would have stopped at five.

Cuba's Oil Industry Going Ahead Rapidly

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Cuba's infant oil industry is going ahead rapidly, but it still looks like a long time before the country can produce enough to satisfy domestic demands.

The 1956 production was 40 per cent above that of 1955. But the output of 540,000 barrels last year was just enough to meet nine days of Cuba's domestic consumption.

Ten million dollars were spent on oil exploration in 1956, compared with $7,500,000 in the preceding year. Cuban and American companies are leading the search for oil.

State Must Assume More Junior College Expense

HILLSBORO, Md. (AP)—Gov. McKeldin says that while local departments of education are "doing a magnificent job" of operating Maryland's junior colleges, he thinks the State must eventually assume a far greater share of the expense.

The governor told the Queen Anne's County Lions Club last night that the State must provide more space for college education "at the lowest possible cost to the greatest number of students."

And he added that public junior colleges seem to be the answer to the problem.

The junior college program in Maryland, McKeldin said, is more or less in its infancy. Baltimore, Silver Spring, Rockville and Hagerstown each have a junior college now, with two more to be established in Baltimore County and one in Harford County during the coming fiscal year.

McKeldin said the enrollment for the coming fiscal year is expected to be 1,679. The State will contribute $150 per student during the coming fiscal year as compared to $125 for the current year, he said.

While the State recognizes the need to aid in the expansion of educational facilities beyond the high school level, McKeldin said, it also "expects the civil divisions to recognize their responsibility in the fields of primary and secondary education."

When he vetoed a $400 across-the-board pay hike proposed for teachers by the 1957 General Assembly, the governor said he thought the pay problem was one for local governments. Since then 14 counties have granted their teachers salary increases.

Polish Home To Be Moved To Flintstone

The ranch-style home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert W. Schaffer located on the summit of Polish Mountain will be moved to Flintstone.

A permit was obtained yesterday by Mrs. Genevieve Yonker Schaffer from the Allegany County Assessing Department to move the structure which is in the path of Route 40 relocation work.

Mrs. Schaffer's house was the center of a controversy in a condemnation suit which the State Roads Commission filed about April 1 and which has been scheduled for trial today and tomorrow in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Although it was understood yesterday afternoon that a settlement had been reached between the Schaffers and the State Roads Commission, the condemnation trial will have to proceed because all unknown owners of Polish Mountain land sought for the road project also are defendants in the suit.

The SRC docketed the suit against Mr. and Mrs. Schaffer, the First Federal Savings and Loan Association, mortgagor, and all unknown owners of land sought for the Polish Mountain project.

Checks totaling $38,245 have been deposited with Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, for benefit of the defendants.

Donald B. McGill, Vocke Road, has contracted with Mrs. Schaffer to move the house down.

Movement of the house may cause some disruption of traffic on U. S. Route 40 in the Polish Mountain sector.

Expansion Of Service By Heart Unit Voted

Plans for an expanded program of education and service were approved last night by the Allegany-County Heart Association in the association office, Clark-Keating Building.

According to F. Allan Weatherholt, president, much of the work of the association deals with education of the general public about the causes of heart disease, how to live with it after it strikes, and what to do and not do. In addition, the association applies much of its energy and money toward the treatment and education of those already stricken, and providing medical care where needed.

Mrs. Ora Mae Lewis, executive director of the association, reported to the board that there are 126 active rheumatic fever cases being assisted by the association and some 50 other cases of various kinds of heart disease being helped. The case load has doubled in the past year, she reported.

She said all available hospital beds and sick room equipment owned by the association is in use, and the board agreed that as more is needed it should be obtained.

Plans were projected for the formation of an active heart service committee in Garrett County.

Reports show that 17 active cases are being cared for in the county by the association, and several more are being processed.

The board approved the appointment of a number of committees of volunteer workers and heard reports from the Maryland Heart Association and American Heart Association.

Approval was given to action on several routine problems and several medical questions were referred to the Medical Advisory Board.

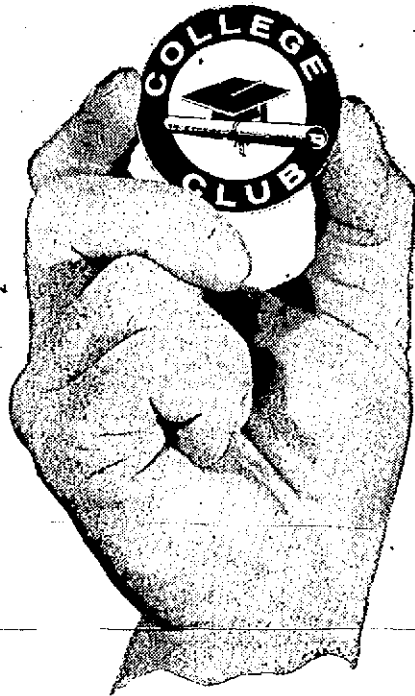

Among the directors present were Dr. Hilda Walters, Frostburg; James W. Bishop, city;

Ownership Of Potomac Meet Topic

West Virginia Man Questions Power To Spend Bridge Funds

Should West Virginia spend money outside its borders for bridges across the Potomac River which is "owned by Maryland"?

This question was brought up this morning at the meeting of roads officials of the two states in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

The Maryland State Roads Commission, Robert O. Bonnell, chairman; Edgar Bonnell and John J. McMullen, met with Patrick C. Grane, the new West Virginia roads commissioner, on the topic of a new Wiley Ford bridge.

Questions Power To Spend

M. L. O'Neale, chief engineer for the W. Va. roads department, questioned the constitutionality of spending money across the state line for bridges.

The border between the states is on the West Virginia bank of the river.

Albert L. Grubb, bridge engineer for the Maryland SRC, pointed out that since World War II West Virginia has entered into agreements that called for a 50-50 sharing of the costs of the McCool-Keyser, Kitzmiller and Ridelge bridges.

Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the Maryland SRC, pointed out that in the past Maryland has agreed to share costs of bridges for which West Virginia had a much greater demand.

Bonnell commented that West Virginia residents had a much greater need for a better bridge at Wiley Ford than Maryland.

McMullen pointed out that the area south of Wiley Ford in Mineral and Hampshire counties is one of the fastest growing sections in this part of West Virginia.

Grane agreed to take the matter under study, and to ask Edgar B. Sims, West Virginia state auditor, for a ruling on the constitutionality of spending money across the state line.

Rail Workers Use Bridge

Pritchett pointed out that at a check taken of Baltimore and Ohio Railroad workers in Cumberland, 500 of a total of 1,500 resided in nearby West Virginia and used the Wiley Ford Bridge.

Col. George E. White, assistant deputy West Virginia roads commissioner, suggested that the state should assess the value of this bridge in its overall program.

He commented that Maryland is fortunate in having a long range plan, while West Virginia heretofore has been "shooting in the dark."

Bonnell observed that the improvement of the Wiley Ford Bridge is not a very new subject. He said he was amazed to learn last night, when the Maryland SRC met with various citizens groups, of the extent the bridge is used.

Visit Bridge Site

He said the citizens of West Virginia use the bridge to come to Cumberland for hospitalization, professional services such as physicians and dentists, and for their employment.

The group visited the bridge before adjourning.

From West Virginia roads department in addition to the three mentioned, were Harold J. Snyder, Keyser, District 5 engineer, and J. J. Melody, Keyser, senior engineer in charge of construction for District 5.

Last night the Maryland commission met with Allegany County legislators and a delegation from the South Cumberland Business Men's Association.

Pritchett told the group the rough estimate of the cost of the bridge would be $780,000 of which $100,000 would come from Cumberland for the approach.

Mayor Roy W. Eves in commenting on published reports of the meeting, said he "is glad to see the Wiley Ford Bridge project coming to a head."

He added that Cumberland and West Virginia, which is concerned about providing its share of the money, are about in the same position.

Cumberland, he continued, "will have to 'dig up' approximately $100,000 to pay for the bridge approach from the Maryland side."

City Workers Ask Pay Hike

Local 812, Municipal Employees Union, meeting last night, unanimously voted to request a salary increase.

C. W. Shipes, president, said the Mayor and Council will be notified of the action and a meeting requested.

Shipes said that in addition, the city will be asked to continue the pay of any worker injured while on the job.

This is the second pay increase request received by council. The Police and Firemen's Welfare Association is sending representatives to council at 11 a. m. Monday to hear an answer to its wage increase question submitted several weeks ago.

ROADS OFFICIALS CONFER—The new West Virginia state roads commissioner, Patrick C. Grane, right, seated, is briefed on the progress of Maryland's 12-year roads program by Robert O. Bonnell, chairman of the Maryland State Roads Commission, left, as officials of the Maryland and West Virginia roads departments conferred today in the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Looking on, left to right, are M. L. O'Neale, chief engineer of the West Virginia State Roads Department; Col. George E. White, assistant deputy W. Va. roads commissioner; and Norman Pritchett, chief engineer of the Maryland SRC. The two state groups met to discuss a new bridge across the Potomac River at Wiley Ford.

Span Closing Planned For Repair Work

The bridges across Georges Creek at Morrison and in Lonaconing on Watercliff Road will be closed to traffic for two weeks beginning Monday, according to G. Bates Chaires, district engineer for the State Roads Commission.

The two spans will be refloored under a contract held by the State Foundation Company of Manchester, Md., at a cost of $20,000.

Traffic using the Watercliff road bridge in Lonaconing will detour over Hill Run and Watercliff county roads.

Vehicular traffic to and from the Mill Run section using the bridge at Morrison will detour via the old Georges Creek county road and the Flat Rock bridge.

Estel C. Kelley, local attorney this morning got "squared away" on his duties as the new Republican member of the Allegany County Board of Alcohol Beverage License Commissioners after receiving his commission from Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin. He was sworn in by Joseph E. Boden, clerk of court.

Kelley has submitted his resignation as a member of the House of Delegates, a post he had held since 1951. He succeeds Walter C. Capper, who had served as chairman of the board for ten years.

Appointed to a six-year term by Gov. McKeldin, Kelley had delayed qualifying while awaiting an opinion as to whether he should succeed as chairman, or whether the board itself should make the selection. Stanley O. Hamilton, also a Republican member, has since been voted as chairman.

Mother To Lose Son In Theft Case

Policeman Reports Rash Of Bike Thefts In Recent Months

Juvenile Magistrate Fred H. Anderson handed down an unusual decision in Juvenile Court this morning in a effort to stamp out delinquency in Cumberland. The case involved two local boys who were charged with being delinquent minors, as a result of the thefts and buying of two bicycles.

Lt. Det. James E. Van, who investigated, testified that the one boy, 13 years of age, had stolen the two bikes within the past month and sold them to the second youth.

Bikes Dismantled

The one bike, owned by Greg Shaffer, son of Mrs. Shirley Shaffer, 472 Williams Street, was valued at $74.95 and was sold for $2.50. The second bike was sold for $1.10.

Det. Van testified that the boy who purchased the bicycles dismantled and repainted them to the point that they appeared as junk rather than expensive bikes.

Lt. Van informed Magistrate Anderson Cumberland has been going through a rash of bike thefts in the last several months.

Magistrate Anderson informed the mother of the boy who stole the bikes that something was lacking in the home, and as a parent she was not providing the training needed by her son.

Judge Anderson said that the boy has been in previous trouble with the law, and that steps must be taken to provide him with the necessary training before he gets beyond control.

Not To Interfere

Rather than commit the boy to the Maryland Training School for Boys, Magistrate Anderson made tentative arrangements to turn the youth over to relatives who reside on a farm in the Hancock area.

The judge told the mother that if this plan works out, she is not to interfere with the supervision of the boy, and that complete control of the youngster will be turned over to the relatives.

Judge Anderson remarked that as in the case of most youths coming before his court the boy is the product of a broken home, and must be taken from the home in order that an adjustment can be made.

The boy who purchased the bikes was found not guilty of being a delinquent minor, but ordered to make restitution to the owners of the bicycles.

Temperature Hits 92 Again

Technically, yesterday was the hottest day of the year although the 92 degrees merely matched the reading of Sunday in the official record.

It was the hottest day by one-half of a degree but since half-degrees are not contained in the record, Sunday's temperature is listed as 92 while it was actually 91½.

But of more immediate importance is temporary relief brought by cooling air late last night and early today which reduced the humidity. According to R. R. Golden, official observer at Constitution Park, variable winds and thunderstorms are to visit the area until this evening when it will clear. The Baltimore weather bureau said maximum temperature today should be about 85 with the low in the 60s.

Forecasters expect nice weather through Friday. Golden added, with a warming trend Sunday or Monday.

The forecast of relief applies to the entire state which has had 90 degree readings for eight straight days. The death toll attributed to the heat wave included three from drowning and three others who collapsed.

Schools in Baltimore closed early today as a result of the heat.

Leaders at the training session which continues through Friday were welcomed by Gene Mason, acting rec director.

Windfall Poses Problem For Finance Department

Cumberland is going to receive $74,746.61, its largest share ever, from state income tax revenues but at the same time the money poses a problem in respect to next year's budget.

City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson said today the payment for 1956 is somewhat of a windfall in view of the fact city revenue appears to be short due to withholding of state gasoline tax funds by the State Roads Commission.

But the problem it presents for next year is this: In estimating revenue for next year, can the city be sure of receiving the income tax revenue within the 1957-58 fiscal year. If not, it has to be applied to the next fiscal year.

Problem of Timing

Gibson explains it this way: When the state enacted legislation for withholding tax on income, it was discovered it could not make regular quarterly contributions to the counties and municipalities on the basis of collections received, because a large portion of the money collected would have to be refunded when complete tax liability for the year was determined. This meant after April 15 of each year.

To compute the amount due counties and municipalities in such a short period between the April 15 date and June 30 (end of the fiscal year) is a sizeable job, Gibson said, adding it may not be possible for the state to complete that job and order payments so that it will reach the city within a fiscal year. Even if the computation is completed in this fiscal year, the actual payment may not reach the city until the next fiscal year, he added.

"Hence in setting up the estimated revenue for next year, the problem is whether tax revenue will be received within that fiscal year," he said.

Gibson said it was anticipated that for this (1956-57) fiscal year, income tax estimates would be approximately $12,000 short of the $50,000 set up in the levy.

With receipt of the $74,746, there will be an "overage" of approximately $64,000.

Fund To Compensate

This amount will compensate for the $64,499.62 state gasoline tax revenue deficit caused by the State Roads Commission withholding these funds to be applied to the Cumberland Thruway project as part of the city's share of construction costs, Gibson said.

The city auditor also pointed out that racing revenue received from the state is approximately $6,500 short of the amount estimated for the year. The estimate (Continued on Page 22)

Nine Men Get Year's Term For Assault

Seven Are Placed On Probation By Judge M. C. Harris

Nine of 16 young men, all of whom had pleaded guilty to statutory rape of two 13-year-old Mt. Savage area girls, were sentenced this morning in Allegany County Court. Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris suspended imposition of sentence on the remaining seven because they had no criminal records of any consequence.

Eight of the nine were sentenced to a term in the Maryland Reformatory for Males not to exceed a year, and the other drew a similar sentence in the House of Correction because he was too old (28 years) to be placed in the Reformatory.

In his statement prior to sentencing the group, Judge Harris pointed out that the charge to which they had pleaded guilty was a felony which carried a death sentence or life imprisonment, to be imposed at the discretion of the court.

Protection For Girls

Practically every state in the country, the jurist pointed out, has statutes which make it a crime to have carnal knowledge of a female under a stated age—with or without her consent. Such laws, he continued, have as their object the protection of young girls.

Ignorance of the ages of the young girls constitutes no defense, Judge Harris said, since a moral wrong was committed. Force is not a necessary ingredient of the crime, and neither is non-consent of the girls involved. Consent does not constitute a defense since the law declares her incapable of giving consent.

The young girls involved are not entirely without fault, the judge continued, since they did nothing to discourage the young men involved. They were the pursuers in some instances, and while this could not be made an excuse for older, more experienced and married men, Judge Harris said it was taken into consideration in passing the penalty.

Dog-Like Conduct

The depravity of the type of offense is shocking to all the decent people of Allegany County, and the conduct of the people involved was termed by the jurist as bearing "resemblance to that of a pack of dogs rather than human beings."

Citing the fact that a case of similar nature was heard in Circuit Court in 1953, and another in 1955, Judge Harris said the one this year is even more shocking than the other two. The ages of the defendants ranged from 18 to 28 years, and their education from the fourth grade to college.

Seven of the men are married, he pointed out, and three have children of their own.

Continuing, Judge Harris said: "The good mothers and fathers of the county are entitled to be assured that the court has every respect for womanhood and will do what is reasonable and proper to prevent a repetition of this type of crime. However, there is some responsibility on the mothers and fathers to see that their daughters are properly reared, and that they receive the proper guidance."

Girls Are Dangerous

The girls involved in these cases are a danger to the community, and I am sure the State's Attorney's office will see that they are promptly taken before the Juvenile Court and that justice will be meted out to them. If it is determined that the mothers and fathers of these young girls have contributed to their delinquency, I am sure that they too will be brought to justice."

Sentences of the young men ordered confined were to begin from the time they had been placed in the county jail after pleading guilty to the statutory rape charges, Judge Harris stipulated.

Sentenced to the House of Correction was Thomas Hott, while those who will go to the Maryland Reformatory are Paul W. Felters, 25; Benjamin Ives Jr., 23; Gary Luther Fuller, 20; his brother, Raymond C. Fuller, 19; Robert W. Cross, 20; Edgar W. Smith, 25; Charles E. Jenkins, 18, and Charles H. Dean, 25.

Judge Harris explained to one of the group that he was being given the same sentence as the others despite facing two other charges in the next term of court.

Placed on probation for three years and ordered to be of general good behavior, abstain from intoxicants and attend church regularly were:

Temporary Floor On Keyser Avenue Bridge Finished

KEYSER — Vehicular traffic across New Creek to the Willow Avenue section of Keyser was restored Monday evening when a temporary floor on the bridge now under construction was completed.

The low earthen temporary bridge at the end of East Piedmont Street was partially washed out Sunday by the high waters of the creek, caused by heavy thunderstorm at the headwaters.

Steel for the bridge flooring has been on order for some time, and delivery was first promised by May 27. But as yet, it has not arrived. City employees have placed a temporary plank flooring on the bridge in order that residents across the creek can drive to and from their homes.

Swim Class Stated
Pool Director John R. Shelton said inquiries have been received regarding a swimming class for adults and that if sufficient interest is shown and a total of at least 25 persons want to take the beginners' lessons arrangements can be made.

The class would include 10 lessons at the pool on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings, and would begin as soon as a sufficient number have expressed desire to participate in the project. Those interested are asked to register at the City Office.

The beginners' class for students is now underway and registration is closed. However, more individuals are needed to warrant the class in first aid and water safety being offered by the Red Cross. Only three or four people have signed for that particular project. Those interested may register at the pool.

Mallard Ducks Released In Short Mt. Hunting Area

ROMNEY — Thomas Sanford, District 2 game manager for the West Virginia Conservation Commission, states that 150 six-week-old mallard ducklings have recently been released in the Short Mountain hunting area in Hampshire County.

The area has become flooded in many spots by beaver dams, and it is hoped that the ducklings will form a breeding population of water fowl. The birds have been leg banded and web punched for identification purposes.

Sanford said whistling quail lines have been run for taking a quail census in the area.

The quail lines are approximately 10 miles in length and conservation personnel make stops every half mile, between 5 and 7 a.m. Three minutes are required at each stop to listen to the number of "bob white" calls heard.

Sixteen whistling quail lines are located in the eastern area of West Virginia. There is one line in each of the following counties: Berkeley, Hardy and Jefferson. Two lines are in Grant, Mineral, Morgan and Pendleton counties. Hampshire County has five lines.

Last year 86 lines were run in 33 counties of the state, covering 265,000 acres.

Frick Sees Anti-Trust Laws Threat To Baseball

Game's Czar Says Chaos, Uncertainty Could Result

WASHINGTON (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said today Congress would "threaten the foundations of the national game" if it placed baseball under Federal antitrust laws.

Frick said such action would result in endless lawsuits, "uncertainty and chaos for players and clubs" and public suspicion of the "honesty of a game no longer allowed to regulate itself effectively."

Sees Nothing Better
In a statement prepared for a House antitrust subcommittee, Frick added that if antitrust legislation were applied to the national pastime:

"I do not see better baseball, or lower admission prices, or better ball parks, or anything better for the fan. In short I see baseball set back 50 years."

Frick was the star witness as the subcommittee again took up its investigation of the status of professional team sports under antitrust laws. The Supreme Court has ruled baseball is exempt from the Sherman Act to curb monopolies but that football and boxing are covered. It has indicated the baseball decision likewise would not carry over to other team sports.

Trautman Next
George M. Trautman, president of the Minor Leagues, was on call after Frick. He was expected to back up the commissioner's testimony.

Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.) previously told the subcommittee the Minors would suffer along with the Majors if Congress took away baseball's antitrust immunity.

Frick mentioned the proposed shift of the National League's Brooklyn and New York franchises to Los Angeles and San Francisco, and said present big league rules will "facilitate" expansion.

He prophesied a third major league will develop "in the foreseeable future" and said:

"The log jam which prevailed in major league status for 50 years has been broken and I predict that a good many changes are in the offing."

All Baseball Would Suffer, Says Solon
WASHINGTON (AP) — Placing baseball under antitrust laws would cause the game "serious and perhaps irreparable injury," Rep. Herlong (D-Fla.) said today.

Herlong told a House Antitrust subcommittee that minor leagues would suffer along with the majors if Congress passed a law abolishing the player reserve clause or other fixtures of the sport.

In a prepared statement, Herlong said the minors depend on "public-spirited local citizens," and major league clubs with which they have working agreements, to ease financial strains.

Nearly every club in the minors takes a "substantial loss" each year, he said.

Herlong was called to testify as the subcommittee, headed by Rep. Celler (D-NY), resumed hearings into the status of professional team sports under federal antitrust laws.

Merchants Seek 500 Class Today
One game is on tap today in the Rec Softball League as South End Merchants go after the 500 class when meeting was held at Mildenhall.

Prior to this Vocke and his team won the Wednesday Night League championship in Headquarters Squadron competition.

Vocke's brother, Joe, was a member of the LaSalle High team that topped the 1957 City League Duckpin championship and was awarded a trophy for high game of 235 in the school league.

Incidentally, Jack and his teammates are pictured in a recent issue of Strato-Host, official publication of the 3910th Air Base Group (SAC).

Cumberland's sports car races were given a pictorial boost in the metropolitan magazine section of this past Sunday's Baltimore Sun.

QUESTION: With the count two and three, the batter is taken out for a pinch-hitter. Who is credited or charged with it in case the pinch-hitter strikes out or walks?—Leslie Jamieson.

Answer: The batter removed would be charged with the strike-out, the pinch-hitter credited with the base on balls.

Q. The pitcher gets his foot tangled up on the rubber and bounces the pitch to the plate. The batter hits the ball into the stands. Is it a home run?—Mrs. Mary Dooley.

A. Yes. The pitch would have been a ball had it not been hit.

Barrelville Runs Unbeaten String In Pen-Mar Loop

Ellerslie and LaVale Maroons met today at Parkside Field in LaVale with the winner moving out of last place in the Pen-Mar Little League. The game is set for 6 p.m.

Barrelville continued its undefeated streak in the circuit yesterday by making Ellerslie its ninth victim. The pacesetter racked the Ellerslie club, 15-6, on the losers' diamond.

Included in 13-hit attack by the Little Bombers were a homer, double and single by Smith and a four-base swat and single by Joe Nolan who marked up his fifth victory. Rickey Connor had three of Ellerslie's five safeties.

LaVale Orioles kept a pair of games off the pace by downing LaVale Maroons, 5-2, for their seventh triumph in nine starts.

Roger James doled out six hits and picked up his fourth victory without a loss. He fanned nine. Larry Snyder of the losers was touched for only seven bingles and whiffed 13.

Bennett, Comer and Robb of the winners and Merrill and Snyder of Maroons had two hits each with Kammann and Merrill socking triples for the losers.

Getting seven runs in two innings, Crescentown DAV edged Crescentown Eagles, 7-5. Brennanman of the Vols and Shoup of Eagles had three hits each as Hardy got the win and Ferrone the loss.

Ronnie Evans, Lions' twirler, gave up only two hits and struck out 16. Clarence Kean tossed a four-hitter for the Jaysces and whiffed an even dozen.

Women Entered In Local Tourney Star In DC Event

Some of the golfers who will participate in the seventh annual Invitation Tournament of the Women's Golf Association of the Cumberland Country Club are getting ready for next week's two-day event by participating in the District of Columbia Amateur Championship.

Mrs. E. C. Ferriday and Betty Garber, both of whom are entered here, survived the first round yesterday. Mrs. Ferriday, who holds the course record for women at Fountain Head in Haglerstown, scored an unexpected 4 and 4 victory over Mrs. George Noble and Miss Garber eliminated Mrs. Harold Price, 2 and 1. Mrs. Garber is also entered in the Country Club show.

Mrs. Ferriday faces a tough task in second-round play today, being pitted against Mrs. Frank Cush, former Maryland state champion. Mrs. Cush advanced with a 4 and 3 win over Mrs. George Maksim.

Meanwhile, entries continue to roll in for the Country Club's June 27-28 tourney. More than 100 golfers, including some of the best amateurs in the East, are expected.

Defending champion is Capt. Lucille Busch of San Diego, Calif., liaison officer and technical adviser in the Air Force.

Lean, Mean Griddler Hunts Rattlesnakes

Three Twilight Games On Slate

With the race now a little tighter in the Twilight Baseball League following Barton's first loss on Tuesday evening, the eight teams all swing back into action this evening.

Barton still holds the lead with a one-and-one-half game margin over runnerup Wright's Crossing. The pacesetter tangle with Midland at Barton today. Midland is in third place with a 4-3 mark and is only two from the lead and a half-game to the rear of Wright's Crossing.

In the other pair of frays, Wright's Crossing will be host to Lonaconing (4-3) and Fintel (1-6) is at home against Zihlman (1-5). All games start at 5:30.

Dick Mayer Out Of Flint Open

FLINT, Mich. (AP) — The first major golf tournament in this city's history gets underway tomorrow, with the nation's touring professionals shooting for a $37,000 melon in the four-day Flint Open.

Dick Mayer, National Open champion, and several of the other top professionals were missing from the field.

CENTERVILLE MEETS HYNDMAN IN PEN-MAR

Centerville, apparently making its bid in the Pen-Mar Baseball League, faces a big test this evening when the Reds collide with Hyndman in a rescheduled game on the latter's diamond.

Starting time for the tilt which was rained out Sunday is 6:15. The Reds, who dropped three of their first five outings, have bagged their last two and are 500 for the season. One of the losses was a 6-5 squeaker to the Merchants.

Hyndman has been set down only once in 11 attempts and sports a three-game lead in the race over both Barrelville and Mt. Savage.

Parnell Career Ended By Injury

BOSTON (AP) — Melvin Lloyd Parnell — the brittle Boston left-hander with a no-hitter and two 20-victory seasons to his credit — today awaited self-imposed retirement from baseball.

The best winning southpaw in Red Sox history, Parnell called the turn on himself yesterday in conference with general manager Joe Cronin. Mel has been told by a New Orleans doctor he would not be able to pitch this year.

Injured for the fourth straight season, the 35-year-old New Orleans resident has asked Cronin to keep him on the disabled list until July 11 when he will have completed 10 years of major league competition.

Art Swanson Proves Self Bright Pupil

By International News Service
Although Art Swanson will not be graduated from the boys' baby class until August, he already has shown himself to be a bright pupil.

The 20-year-old Pittsburgh Pirate right-hander cooled off the National League's hottest team last night when he set down the St. Louis Cardinals on four hits, 8 to 1, in his first major league start.

Swanson lost his shutout with two out in the ninth inning.

The brown-haired youngster, from Monroe, La., was signed to a bonus contract by the Pirates in August, 1955, after compiling a high school record of 30-and-3.

He pitched only two innings for the Pirates in 1955 and had an horrendous earned-run average of 10.00. Last year, he pitched 12 innings and reduced his ERA to 3.75.

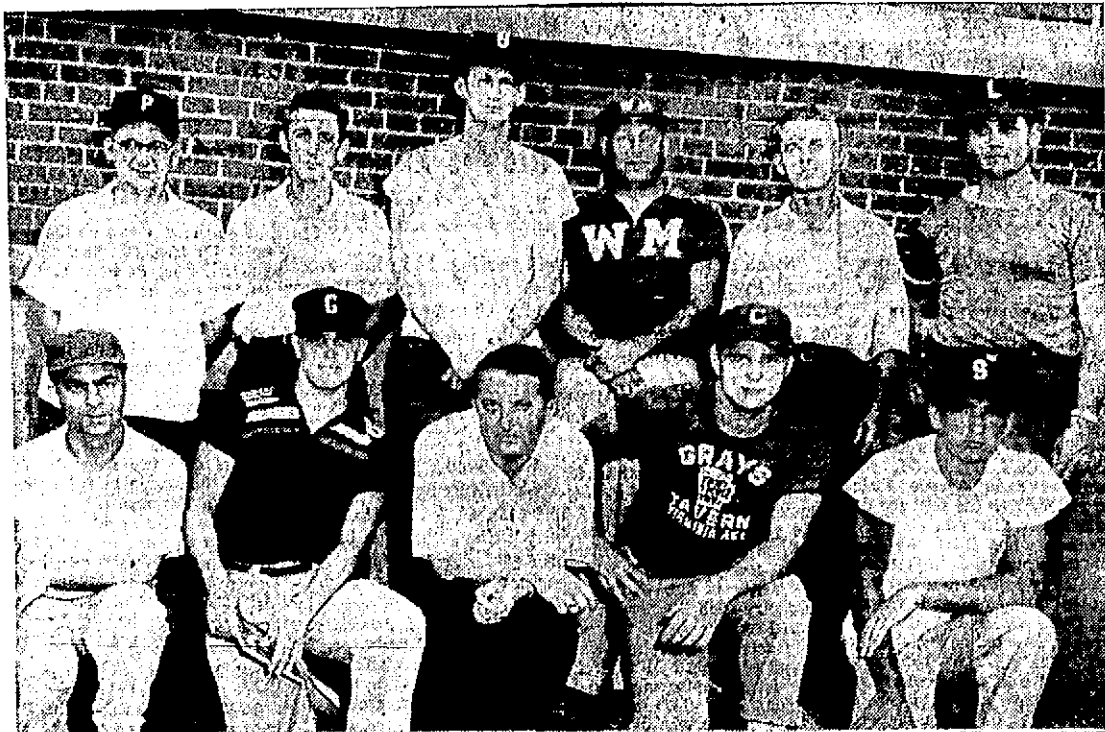

He knew he needed experience. So the six-foot, 175-pound athlete played winter ball in Pozo Rica, Mexico, and worked hard to improve his curve, change-up and control.

Last night, that work began to pay off.

Pitcher, 18, Signs Oriole Contract

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles have signed Larry Deer, 18-year-old left-handed pitcher from Indianapolis, Ind., to a contract with Kingsport, Tenn., of the all-rookie Class D Appalachian League.

Deer had a 10-4 record for three years of varsity competition at Indianapolis Tech and won 10 of 12 games in American Legion baseball. He was scouted by Jim Russo.

Stengel Sees Yanks In First By Weekend

By FRED DE LUCA
NEW YORK (AP)—The inevitable is happening.

The irresistible New York Yankees are moving in on first place and neither the battling Detroit Tigers nor the sagging Chicago White Sox seem capable of stopping the world champions from reaching their goal by Sunday.

The Yankees opened their home drive for the top spot last night by edging the Tigers, 2 to 1, the same score by which Baltimore beat the White Sox to cut Chicago's league lead to 2½ games.

Casey Stengel figures that at the worst possible way. The remaining two games with Detroit and the four-game week-end set with the Pale Hose are more run across the plate. Ralph Terry, recently acquired from the Yanks by Kansas City, hurled the A's to a 2-to-0 win over Washington although he needed Virgil Trucks to get the final out. Cleveland hammered four homers to edge Boston, 7 to 6.

In the National League, front-running Milwaukee lost to the New York Giants, 5 to 4, in their first meeting since Saturday's big trade. What's more, Ray Crone, an ex-Brave, won in relief for the Giants, Philadelphia, St. Louis and Brooklyn all trail Milwaukee by one game and fifth-place Cincinnati is two games back.

Shantz Wins Eighth
Shantz pitched seven-hit ball to win his eighth game of the year against one defeat. Carey doubled twice and scored both New York runs, each time being delivered by Richardson.

Billy Hoelt went the distance for Detroit and while he had no trouble with Mickey Mantle, he just couldn't handle the little hitters.

The White Sox lost with their best — Billy Pierce — and in

Rookie Hits Slammer
A grand-slam homer by rookie Harry Anderson helped the Phils beat the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 6, in the only day game yesterday. Bonus baby Art Swanson hurled Pittsburgh to an 8-to-1 win over the Cardinals. Don Newcombe pitched and batted the Dodgers to a 7-to-0 win over the Redlegs.

The score was tied at 1-all in the seventh, when Chicago's Pierce gave up a single and three straight two-out walks. George Zuverink won in relief and now is 7-and-2. Baltimore's largest crowd of the season — 41,515 — was on hand.

Lou Skizas and Vic Power homered for the only runs of the Kansas City-Washington game. Terry pitched a five-hitter and Ted Abernathy took the defeat.

Vic Werz, Chico Carrasquel, Rocky Colavito and Roger Maris all homered for Cleveland off Tom Brewer. Jackie Jensen's three-run homer sparked a too-

"Bud" Frye doubled and scored the tying run on Norm Curtis' single. Bill Bratt's sacrifice fly produced the deciding rally.

Lawrence and Frye, of Pittsburgh Plate, had three hits in three trips each while Jack Steiner and Hickey Speir with two safeties each paced the Casey's.

Bill Thompson, who relieved "Bud" Law on the rubber in the sixth received credit for the win.

The league was divided into the Rocks and Chairs at a meeting last night for the annual All-Star game Thursday, June 27, at St. Louis Field. Representing the Rocks will be Pittsburgh Plate, Glass, Outdoor Club, Knights of Columbus and Celanese. Elks, VFW, Moose and Ritter's will furnish players for the Rocks.

The game will be a nine-inning affair and get underway at 6:15. The Rocks whipped Chairs, 15-3, last summer as the circuit was divided for the first time. In previous years the champion had always opposed a group of stars.

Spain lost for Milwaukee but he was hurt by errors by Johnny Logan and Bill Bruton. Wes Westrum homered for the Giants.

A three-run homer by Rip Repulski accounted for the other Phil runs off Dave Hillman. Jim Belger and Bobby Morgan connected for the Cubs as Jim Hearn won the 100th game of his big league career.

Swanson permitted the Cards only four hits and had the benefit of a 12-hit attack including two homers by Bill Virdon, Larry Jackson lost.

Aside from blanking Cincinnati on five hits, Newcombe also hit a homer, double and single and now is 6-and-6 for the season. Hal Jeffcoat took Cincinnati's fourth loss in a row and 12th in the last 16 games.

Zuverink Gets Psychological Genius Rating

By GEORGE BOWEN

BALTIMORE (AP) — As a relief pitcher, George Zuverink is a "psychological genius," says Manager Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles.

"He has a faculty of oblivion to the result," expounded Richards last night after the big blond Dutchman had "saved" another game.

The right-hander also got credit for the 2-1 victory over the American League-leading Chicago White Sox. It was his seventh against two losses. That puts him among the most successful in the league although he pitches only when the Orioles are in trouble.

He took over with the tie-breaking run on base and one out in the seventh. He put out the fire without turning a hair.

"Does Zuverink realize what he's doing out there?" Richards was asked afterward.

"No, and don't tell him," replied Richards.

It was the 24th time in 56 Oriole games this season that Zuverink has staked in from the bull pen right into hot water. He's been cool as a cucumber, giving up only nine earned runs in 50 innings.

"His most important asset is that he doesn't walk many," said Richards.

Manager Al Lopez of the White Sox agreed that Zuverink's ability to get the ball over is his principal value since he shows up usually with runners already on base.

"I believe that if he threw 1,000 pitches overhand, 999 of them would be over the plate," declared Richards, who claimed Zuverink from Detroit in 1955 for practically nothing.

Brown 8-5 Favorite To Keep Title, Sees KO Win Tonight

DENVER (AP) — Champion Joe Brown of Houston, Tex., flatly predicting a knockout victory, is an 8-5 favorite over Cuba's Orlando Zulueta for their lightweight championship fight in Denver Coliseum tonight.

"I'll knock him out," said the 30-year-old champion.

Promoter Joe Dupler predicted a $35,000 gate for the first title bout here in 39 years.

For his second title defense, Brown has the option of a $25,000 guarantee or 40 per cent of the combined receipts, his Cuban challenger will get a 20 per cent cut of the melan.

The slender lightweight king appeared confident of retaining his crown despite once being held to a draw with Zulueta in Baltimore four years ago. He made his knockout prediction after the Colorado Athletic Commission ruled the boxers will wear six-ounce gloves instead of the eight-ounce mitts usually required by the state code.

Brown easily is the harder hitter of the two. He has 27 knockouts in an 11-year boxing career that shows a record of 63-14-8.

Brown won the lightweight crown last August in a 15-round decision over then champion Wallace (Bud) Smith.

Zulueta, whose left is regarded as the sharpest in the division, has stepped only six opponents in compiling a 62-27-11 record. But he never has been knocked out.

It was the 24th time in 56 Oriole games this season that Zuverink has staked in from the bull pen right into hot water. He's been cool as a cucumber, giving up only nine earned runs in 50 innings.

HE RE-GREW HAIR

Before Erickson Treatment

A Few Months Later

Thomas A. Melton Jr. of Hollidaysburg, Pennsylvania, (above) shows he re-grew hair by the Erickson Home Treatment method.

Hair Specialists Here Tomorrow; Will Show How To Save Hair And Prevent Baldness

CHICAGO—New home treatment methods for saving hair and improving its growth will be demonstrated in Cumberland, Maryland, on June 20, Thursday only.

Trichologist G. E. Young will be in charge, representing the dynamic Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists organization. He will personally examine hair-worried men and women from 1:00 to 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

At the home office of the Erickson organization, a new, even more successful method of treatment was announced — a treatment that you can easily administer yourself at home.

This new treatment is neither "mail order" nor "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by an Erickson expert.

Who Can Be Helped?
For many years now Erickson Hair & Scalp Specialists have been checking the hair of thousands of people across the country. They have encountered and dealt with hundreds of cases of every kind of hair trouble. From this experience has grown the body of scientific knowledge leading to the development of the new Erickson home treatment.

Will the new Erickson treatment cure baldness? "No!" For we cannot help men and women who are sick-bald after years of gradual hair-loss. But if you still have fuzz and your scalp is still creating hair, you can at least save and thicken what you have. Some conditions, such as "spot baldness" usually have complete coverage if caught in time!

Other conditions that usually bring on excessive hair loss — dandruff, itching, over-illness or dryness, follicle clogged with sebum or seborrhea — can be corrected by the Erickson home treatment if caught before the "hair factories" are destroyed.

Evidence of the success of the Erickson method is that the organization has quickly expanded to serve hundreds of cities in 32 states.

The most important thing is: "Don't wait until it's too late." Surveys among men and women in all walks of life show that the worst enemies of your hair are (1) skepticism and (2) procrastination. The average balding person justifies his condition with one or the other of these two statements:

"I don't think anybody can stop hair loss" — or "Oh, I'm going to see an expert when I get around to it."

Baldness won't wait for doubters to be convinced or for procrastinators to take action later. You're going to keep "mail order" or "cure-all." It is adapted to the individual after a personal examination and progress is checked personally at regular intervals by an Erickson expert.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune.

Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectan-

read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Prisoners Entitled To See Attorney

BALTIMORE (AP) — The classic cry, "I want to see my lawyer," has drawn support from the Attorney General's office.

Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert said a person in police custody "has an absolute right to the advice and presence of a lawyer from the moment of arrest."

Sybert gave the opinion to James M. Hepburn, Baltimore City police commissioner. He said it was prompted by a recent report by the press and members of the Baltimore Bar, in which city officers refused to permit an attorney to see his client.

"The Attorney General said a person under arrest has the right to 'call or contact forthwith any lawyer of his choice and to consult with such lawyer at any time.'"

(Continued from Page 13) in this case was $48,000 of which $41,456.29 has been collected. State comptroller J. Millard Tawes said there would be another distribution from 1956 returns as soon as all returns have been fully processed.

Allegany County received $181,066.03 from income tax revenue which at the present time is considerably below the $276,590.61 received during the last fiscal year.

However, a tax office source said it is possible the second payment referred to by Tawes will swell the total and perhaps bring it about last year's mark since income from this source has been increasing slightly each year.

Distribution Reported

Distribution in Allegany and Garrett counties is as follows: Allegany — Barton, $1,277.28; Cresaptown, $1,039.54; Cumberland, $74,748.61; Frostburg, $11,643.79; Lonaconing, $3,467.55; Luke, $2,821.24; Midland, $749.22; Westernport, $5,076.13; county commissioners, $181,066.03; total, $282,887.79.

Garrett — Accident, $249.33; Deer Park, $128.12; Friendsville, $360.72; Grantsville, $875.75; Killbuck, $205.43; Loch Lynn Heights, $164.79; Mountain Lake Park, $513.95; Oakland, $5,770.75; county commissioners, $16,759.92; total, $25,028.76.

Statewide, the income tax revenue sharing set a record, Tawes said checks totaling $15,581,452 have been mailed to the 24 counties and 158 incorporated cities and towns. It exceeds last year by more than a million dollars.

It was estimated that with the second distribution, the estimated share for subdivisions will reach $17,054,000.

Boy Rescued By Policeman In Baltimore

BALTIMORE (AP) — Patrolman Edward Connolly rescued a 13-year-old boy yesterday who was being dangled over a bridge rail by five older youths.

Connolly said if the boy, Anthony Pule, had been dropped he would have plunged 20 feet to a steep slope.

Three of the older youths, 18 to 22 years old, told Magistrate Howard Aaron "we did it for a joke."

Aaron ordered probation before verdict for the three on disorderly conduct charges but lifted the probation for one youth when he was informed the boy had orders to report for military service.

Two other 15-year-old boys were held for juvenile authorities.

The three charged in magistrate's court were docketed as Harry M. Shore, 18; Franklin D. Miller, 22, and George A. Schmidt, 20.

Free Liquor Samples Banned

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—The State Liquor Commission has slapped a ban on free samples of whisky and wine.

Chairman E. Gaujot Bias said today the commission has decided that the only way an individual can get a bottle is to buy it retail in a state store.

It has been the practice in the past, Bias said, for distillers to send extra cases of their products with each consignment sold to the commission. Because state law prohibits anyone but the commission from buying liquor at wholesale, this surplus was consigned to the commission but turned over to distillers' agents for their use. Bias said that there are about 60 cases in the warehouse which belong to the distillers and not the state. The commission has asked the various companies to bill it for the liquor so that it could be placed upon the shelves as regular stock.
